Three Lives Lost In C.P.R. Train Wreck Near Lundbreck

Above is a view of the C.P.R. freight which plunged into Rock Creek early Thursday morning of last week. Three of the crew were killed. The culvert had apparently become choked causing heavy flood waters to sweep over the tracks washing out the supports. The locomotive plunged into the creek bed and approximately eight cars piled up on top of it. The track was repaired Monday last and traffic started to get through at noon, Monday.

Plan On Leaving For Vancouver In Two Weeks

Mrs. Anton Belevich anticipates leaving Coleman with her husband for Vancouver within two weeks. During that time they will reside in a room loaned them by a neighbor.

Mrs. Belevich came to Canada from Austria in 1908, first settling in Montreal and a year later in Coleman. In 1914 her first husband, Mike Knsc, was killed in McGillivray mine and three years later she married Mr. Belevich.

She revealed that her husband is not from Lithuania but from White Russia.

Thrilled with the thought of living at the west coast she remarked that her son-in-law and daughter have a nice home near the Vancouver General hospital and have apple, pear, cherry and plum trees in their yard in addition to raspberry bushes and strawberry plants.

She intends to purchase a nice home shortly after reaching the city.

Cubs Beat Hillcrest

Local Ball Players Show Class to Come From Behind Four Run Deficit; Oppose Michel Next Sunday.

On Sunday evening, May 30, in the first baseball match played this season on the local ball diamond Coleman Cubs defeated Hillcrest Miners 13-4.

Mayor Frank Abousafy officially opened the season as he threw a called strike over the plate.

As Michel-Natal Buffaloes were unable to put in an appearance Coleman Cubs brought in Hillcrest Miners for an exhibition tilt. Hillcrest opened in fine style scoring the first four runs of the match but wilted badly under a heavy barrage of Coleman hits to lose by a lopsided 13-4 score.

By virtue of their fourth straight victory of the season the Cubs have demonstrated sufficient power to establish themselves as favorites for the Crows Nest Pass League championship.

The next match at the local diamond will be played on Sunday, June 6, when the Cubs oppose Michel-Natal.

POSTPONE CARAVAN UNTIL SEPTEMBER

The "On to Nelson Caravan" scheduled for June 11 has been postponed for a second time this being set back to September.

The disastrous floods in southern British Columbia have washed out the highway in many places and in addition civic leaders would be too preoccupied in fighting floods than making ready to travel to Nelson on a highways convention.

School Having Trouble With Sewage System

Principal Hoyle Anticipates Heavy Enrolment of School Starters Next Fall; To Make Application For Phone Installation in High School.

Regular meeting of Coleman school board was held on Saturday morning. Fredrick Chairman G. Evans, Trustees D. Holly, O. Bomben, J. Wilkie and M. Cornett.

The sewage system at Central and high schools is again giving trouble. It appears that the wooden pipes are rotted and the entire system will have to be renewed. It was agreed to advertise for tenders on the complete job work to start and be completed during the school summer vacation. Tenders are to be received by Secretary Gladys Lees with the deadline set for Saturday, June 12.

To facilitate decorating all classrooms during the summer recess it was proposed that a spray be purchased. Works & Property Committee was authorized to study the suggestion and given power to act.

Cameron school janitor John Wavrean was given a raise in salary to bring him in line with the high school janitors.

Discussing enrolment of youngsters of starting school age for the Fall term Principal Hoyle expressed the opinion that enrolment might be quite heavy and that classes might be over-crowded. In order to determine how many might be expected to start school in the Fall Principal Hoyle was authorized to place a notice in the Journal asking parents to register their children. Full information is given in the advt.

There are time when a phone in the high school would come in handy. The Board has accepted this statement and as a result application is to be made to Alberta Government telephones to install an instrument in high school. The board added however the phone was strictly for school business.

BANK MODERNIZES ITS SALON'S BOOKKEEPING SYSTEM

On visiting the local Bank the other day we found that, with a view to modernization, they have installed an up-to-date card system in their Savings Department. The manager advises that this should materially speed up service to savings bank customers. As the change entails the re-numbering of accounts, customers are requested to bring their pass books to the Bank in order that their account numbers may be corrected, and at the same time, fresh specimen signatures obtained.

The manager hopes that, with this improvement, in service, many more residents of the town's open savings accounts and avail themselves of the facilities afforded.

Council Moves To Beautify Flumerfelt Park; Tennis Courts To Be Moved Back Thirty Feet

Propose to Have Small Area With Lawn, Benches And Rock Garden Behind Tennis Courts For Convenience of Citizens

Regular meeting of council was held on Tuesday evening. All councillors present with exception of Councillor Wilson.

Delegation was present from Seventh street east asking improved drainage and an improved roadway be made to their residences. Council authorized W. & P. committee to investigate.

Mr. Joe Kwassie asked that he be aided in protecting his Second street property against the ravages of Nez Perce creek. He expressed satisfaction with town's offer to bring two trucks of gravel to the property and dump it alongside the creek where damage is most severe.

A delegation from the tennis club asked that the town give some aid in the reconstruction of the tennis courts. Since the courts are ruined a plan to beautify the Park was proposed by Mayor Frank Abousafy and after considerable discussion was adopted by council and accepted by the tennis delegation.

Council will start immediately with a tractor and level out 30 feet of the upper tennis courts which have not been used for many years. The present courts will be moved back 30 feet.

The 30 feet thus gained will be used as a parking lot. In addition the corner at this point will be considerably widened.

The portion of the upper courts left will be decorated with a rock garden on the south side, properly levelled off so that should the Lions decide to construct a wading pool there space will be available. In addition grass will be grown and benches placed so that citizens on a pleasant summer's afternoon or evening may go down to the park, sit on the benches and either watch the kiddies play in the pool or the tennis games.

Coming back to the front of the park and the extra space to be made available. It is proposed within the next year or two to cover over a section of Nez Perce creek adjoining the Fourth street bridge and construct a roadway on the east bank up to Sixth street.

$10 donations were granted the Salvation Army and the Institute for the Blind.

Mrs. Nick Deputak, a relief recipient, submitted a list of clothing. It is to be studied by the Relief committee with power to act.

Council will endeavor to secure a house phone for its deputy policeman, R. Kwassie.

Mrs. E. Lonsbury reported to council the extent of damage done to her premises by the flood. Council will inform Mrs. Lonsbury that it will do everything in its power to eliminate as much as possible future damage by floods.

Sanitation report on restaurants and the Bakery revealed nothing really bad. In regard to the restaurants all lacked sterilizing rinsing sinks and each was advised to secure same.

A circular letter is to be sent all restaurants, hotels, etc., asking that in future they spray their garbage cans with DD-T in order to control the breeding of flies.

A caretaker is to be appointed for the cemeteries for a six months period at $30 per month.

The annual Clean-Up week was set for June 7-12.

Rebate of 10 per cent. on all current taxes paid on or before August 18 was authorized.

Henry Claes was present to ask the council to prohibit outside taxis from picking up passengers in Coleman. The Council referred the matter to Solicitor Sam Bannan.

So much discussion was given flood control that the subject will be given a full dressed debate at the next regular meeting.

This photo was made during a recent visit of the prime minister and his wife to the royal family at Soestdijk palace, at Amsterdam, Holland. At right is Mrs. Churchill. The famed wartime premier of Britain called for a United States of Europe that will no longer have a people sitting in "humble homes quaking in dread of the policeman's knock." He said that "Europe has only to arise and stand in her own majesty to confront all forms of tyranny with forces that are unconquerable."

OUR COMPLETE SHORT STORY—

Mr. Rohan Sees The Light

By MYRON J. BIENSTOCK

ROD COOPER tucked his empty right sleeve back into his pocket, and glanced apprehensively at the house numbers above the door. Twelve-zero-four, the letter in answer to his application had said. This was it, the imposing residence of Joseph Rohan, the almost legendary head of Inter-American Steel, one of the greatest steel mills in the country.

He squared his shoulders, swept an unruly strand of hair back into place, and pressed the bell. His lean, sensitive face was tense, a worried look in his dark eyes. The door opened, and a maid looked at him questioningly.

"My name is Cooper," he said. "Mr. Rohan is expecting me."

"Will you come in, please?" she replied, staring at his empty sleeve.

He rushed angrily, and stepped into the hall.

"You may wait here, sir," she said. "I'll see if Mr. Rohan is busy." She disappeared through a door at the opposite end of the hall. "Go right in, sir," she said quietly, when she returned. "Mr. Rohan will see you now."

Rod stepped through the carved oak door into a large, well-appointed study. The walls were paneled in dark oak, with rows upon rows of heavy books in shelves running half way to the high ceiling. A deep Persian rug muffled his steps. The partially drawn blinds reduced the study to semi-darkness.

"Step right over here, Mr. Cooper," came a mild, clear voice from the man in a chair in the corner. "Sit down, and we'll talk business."

As Rod approached the deep leather chair, a sharp bark stopped him. A large, handsome dog was stretched out in front of him, eyeing him suspiciously. He skirted the animal, and sank into the chair.

"Don't mind Champ," Rohan said. "He's suspicious of everybody. We're very attached to each other." He laughed good naturedly. "He never leaves my side for a minute. Why, he even goes to the plant with me. He paused a moment.

"I guess you think it's strange to call you here for this interview, Mr. Cooper. But it's not my usual custom. For a rather nasty old, and won't be able to get back to the offices at the plant for another few days. You see," he added, "I like to take a personal interest in hiring the employees of Inter-American."

He leaned back in his chair, holding his spectacles, a wiry man with a full, ruddy face, and thin grey hair. His faded blue eyes darted past Rod, and fastened on the wall.

"Tell me son, how was it over there?" he asked. "I see from your letter of application you were in the Pacific. Pretty rough, I suppose?" Rod laughed, a harsh, guttural sound in the quiet room. "Yes, Mr. Rohan, it was pretty rough. Nothing I would recommend for the kiddies."

"Oh yes, sorry, Rod," he paused uncomfortably, and after a moment, continued. "Hope you don't mind if I call you Rod?" He raised his eyebrows questioningly.

"No, sir. That's quite all right."

"Well, then, suppose we get down to business," the old man continued.

"I see you worked for the Grey Company for four years. Why didn't you go back to your old job?"

"They went out of business, sir. That lets me out, I'm afraid."

"How were you doing there, son?" Rohan asked, his eyes shifting back to Rod, and then down to the desk. "What position did you hold?"

"Well, sir, I started as a Junior accountant," Rod answered, "and rose to assistant to the head of the department by the time I entered the service."

"Hmhm," murmured the old man, "that's travelling quite a distance in three—no, four years, wasn't it? Of course," he continued rapidly, "I don't think you'll advance as quickly in our organization. We're rather large, you know. But I think you know we don't hesitate to reward good work." He paused, and toyed with the letter on his desk.

"There's one thing that makes me hesitate, Rod," he continued, somewhat hesitantly. "You say in your letter of application that you lost an arm in the service. Were you right or left handed, son?"

Cold beads of sweat popped out on Rod's forehead. It was the same question they all asked. How many personnel managers had he seen? A dozen? More? He could still see the looks in their eyes as they shook their heads. "We'll keep you in mind if there's an opening," they would say, as they coughed politely.

Couldn't they realize that it was more than just a job to him? More than just getting back into the routine? He felt, deep inside him, that it was his Holy Grail. Its capture would signify that he was not a useless hulk of a man, a burden on the community, an object of pity from which people averted their eyes.

No, they never put it into words, those personnel men. "Not enough experience, Mr. Cooper." No, not enough experience, as they turned their eyes from that empty sleeve.

Suddenly a new thought flashed on him. He would tell Rohan that he had been left handed. He would tell him that his ability hadn't been impaired. The old man would never know the difference, after the practice he got in the hospital. His left hand was almost as good as his right had been. Besides, the industrialist would no doubt forget about him, once he had been hired.

He opened his mouth to speak, but a tight fist grasped his vocal cords. His forehead glistened with perspiration, as he hesitated. That wasn't the way, he thought. It was only a substitute. A lie, which would be constantly eating at his self-respect, and would never give him peace.

"I was right handed, Mr. Rohan," he said in resignation. "I lost my right arm, sir," he said, suddenly pleading. "All I need is a chance to show you. I'm not perfect yet, but I can keep accounts fairly legibly, writing left handed." He paused, looking at the old man. Rohan's face remained impassive. He fumbled with the letter, and rubbed his hand over his chin.

The same as all the rest, Rod thought. They won't even look directly at me. Probably thinking of the easiest way to say it. He laughed bitterly to himself.

The old man looked up suddenly. "Mr. Cooper," he stated, "suppose you report for work on Monday."

Rod leaned forward, his eyes wide as the words crashed home to him. "You mean I'm... I'm hired?" His voice lifted eagerly. "I don't know how to thank you, I... I..."

"You don't have to thank me, son," the industrialist laughed. "I know you'll do well at the job." He smiled. "Reminds me," he said reminiscently, "of the time I asked for a

Saskatoon Bids For Skate Races

MONTREAL.—Chaplain Provcher, honorary secretary-treasurer of the Amateur Skating Association of Canada, said he had learned that Saskatoon intends to make a bid for the 1949 Canadian amateur ice speed skating championships.

OUR WESTERN TOWNS

RADVILLE

SASKATCHEWAN

A Beauty Spot Of The South Country

THE town of Radville, situated 84 miles south and east of Regina, is often referred to as "a friendly little town in the south country." It has nice wide streets and avenues, all gravelled and maintained regularly; even the back lanes are gravelled as well. Shade trees, most of them set out some 16 years ago, line city streets and avenues in the residential section, giving a home-like and permanent appearance to the town as well as providing cool shade from the summer sun. On Main street, a block from the business section, is Coronation Park, well treed and provided with seats.

At least 90 per cent. of the homes are owned by the people living in them, and the majority take a degree of pride in their property and home surroundings. Hedges, trees and flower gardens are a prominent part of the summer scene. While Radville has as yet no organized horticultural society, one has already been talked of. Flower-lovers of the town regularly win prizes at the Weyburn and Regina shows.

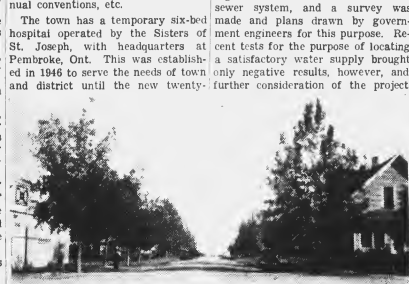

With its three general stores, two hardware, a large hotel, two restaurants, drug store, bank, newspaper and printing plant, tailor shop, theatre, locker plant, two lumber yards, machine shop, garages, implement agencies, dentist, doctor, lawyer, jewellers, etc., Radville is the business and trading centre for a large area. Farm folk and people from the smaller hamlets come to Radville from as far south as the international boundary, a distance of 30 miles.

The town has two schools; the Radville public and high school, and the Sisters of St. Louis Academy. Many students from the district board-in for the school term. The office of Radville Larger School Unit No. 3 is also located here. Religious well-being of the town's citizens is also well taken care of by the Roman Catholic, United and Anglican churches, the Church of Christ and the Full Gospel Mission.

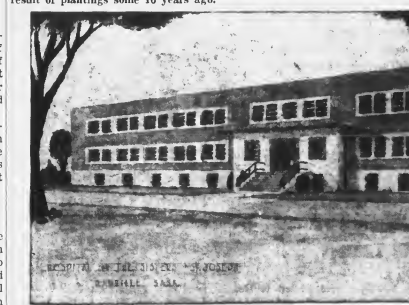

Radville is a divisional point on the Canadian National Railways, and a goodly portion of its citizens earn their livelihood as railway employees in the roundhouse, shops, on train crews, etc. A two-man R.C.M.P. detachment is located here. The local Canadian Legion branch has recently completed a fine little hall on Main street, the work being done mostly by volunteer labor, and the building is free of debt. Another prominent building is the Memorial hall, which is regularly used for public meetings, dances, Wheat Pool and teachers' annual conventions, etc.

The town has a temporary six-bed hospital operated by the Sisters of St. Joseph, with headquarters at Pembroke, Ont. This was established in 1948 to serve the needs of town and district until the new twenty-bed hospital can be completed. Good progress has been made on the new building since last summer, and it is hoped to have the hospital opened within the next few months.

Town officials have been considering the installation of a water and sewer system, and a survey was made and plans drawn by government engineers for this purpose. Recent tests for the purpose of locating a satisfactory water supply brought up only negative results, however, and further consideration of the project

The above picture is one of Radville's beautiful well-treed streets, the result of plantings some 16 years ago.

The above is the architect's drawing of Radville's new modern 20-bed hospital now well on the way to completion.

Miscellaneous Shower

A shower in honor of Mrs. Vans Hulbert was held in the I.O.O.F. hall on Monday evening with sixty guests present. Whist and Bingo were played with whist honors going to Mrs. R. Parry and Mrs. Anne Stonehouse.

The hostesses gift was a dinner set. Mrs. H. Hulbert assisted the bride in unwrapping the gifts. Mr. B. Veterans Still Sending Letters Of Thanks Number Who Failed to Receive Names Now Seeking Plaque; To Receive Them In Due Course.

Letters of thanks are being received by Rehabilitation committee when the official list was being drafted despite the fact that a long list plus several notices were inserted in The Journal asking veterans or family members to record their names in order that they could be presented at the proper time with a plaque.

One name of a young man killed overseas was inadvertently left out and the Committee deeply regretted this oversight. However the others now making application for the plaques had ample opportunity of registering with the Rehabilitation months before the plaques were actually distributed.

The Committee has several names on hand and will wait a week or two in order to determine if some others have been omitted before placing the order with Birks, Calgary.

Following are letters of thanks received during the past two weeks:

Dear Sir:

I recently received your most welcome parcel. I don't know just how to express myself but I do want you to know that I appreciate it very much and the choice is very good.—R. E. Destobel.

Dear Sir:

Just a few words to acknowledge receipt of your parcel containing a plaque and wallet. It is indeed a lovely gift and will always be one of my most treasured possessions and will always remind me of the good citizens of Coleman who were more than kind in their gifts to us during the war years overseas.—J. M. Hoggan.

Dear Sir:

I received your letter yesterday stating that you had a plaque presented by the Coleman Citizens to the boys who joined the army from Coleman. I joined from Coleman in June, 1940. Thank you for writing me and my thanks to the people of Coleman. I'll appreciate the plaque and if you will send it to Macleod, General delivery, I will receive it O.K.—C. Murphy.

Dear Sir: I received the gratitude gift a few days ago and I wish to thank the Legion, officials and citizens of Coleman. I regret not being able to attend the presentation and the opportunity of thanking all responsible for this grand gesture.—M. J. Pardell.

Dear Sir:

I was very pleased to receive the memorial plaque and wallet from the people of Coleman. They are especially welcome to those of us who have moved away... we like to think we are remembered.—Wilfred G. Hoyte.

David C. L. Jones Admitted To The Alberta Bar

Received His Public and High School Education Here; Associated With George L. Steer, Edmonton Lawyer.

A C.P. dispatch from Edmonton dated May 31 reveals that Lawyer David C. L. Jones was admitted to the Alberta bar.

Lawyer Jones is none other than David Jones, former Coleman youth who only a few short years ago attended the local public and high schools. His father was formerly a fireboss at International and his elder sister, Miss Megan taught school here for several years. His younger sister, now a university student, attend the local school.

David is associated with George L. Steer as counsel for the Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire in Alberta's royal commission on welfare hearings.

Born in Wales and educated in Alberta, Mr. Jones was with the RCAF during the Second World War. He is also known as a vocalist.

He married a former Hillcrest girl and for a time resided at Claresholm.

Slightly Exaggerated

Elvino Fabro, who ostensibly travelled with his wife and family to Kimberley on a pleasure trip two weeks ago only to find himself in the middle of a flood the worst in Kimberley's history, states that reports in Kimberley had Coleman also in the centre of a heavy and destructive flood and that East Coleman was in a shambles. He had to partly hitch-hike his way from Kimberley home as floods at Fernie and Michel-Natal had washed out the highway.

Reports had reached Vancouver that floods were taking heavy toll here and that the Pass was isolated and no food-stuffs were being brought in. Mrs. Roy Thomas, of Vancouver, phoned her daughter Mrs. Alfred Jones to make enquiry how she and her sister Mrs. Roy Foster were faring.

Miss Gladys Lees contacted brother Fred at New Westminster on Tuesday morning to find out how he and his family were faring. Fred stated they were located on high ground and were all right but homes below them were being flooded heavily. Mrs. W. C. Twells, and Mr. and Mrs. Everett Bulman, formerly of Coleman and now residents of Port Kells, B.C., near New Westminster, are said to be in danger of being flooded if they have not already been so.

Another family in the danger area is Mr. and Mrs. Jim Smith. They are literally on the banks of the Fraser across the river from New Westminster.

THE VALUE OF ADVERTISING

One of the outstanding examples of successful advertising is that carried out by the life insurance companies operating in Canada over an unbroken period of twenty-seven years. During that time, the growth of the life insurance business has been phenomenal.

The amount of life insurance protection in force has grown by nearly six times. The figures are astronomical. In 1919 the amount of life insurance protection in force was just over $2,000,000. At the close of 1947, this had grown to approximately 12,000,000.

It has become an accepted axiom that every individual who has any responsibility to others should carry insurance on his life. It is looked upon as almost a duty.

To such an extent has this developed that in 1947 there was approximately $900 of life insurance for every man, woman and child in Canada as against only approximately $250 in 1919.

There can be no doubt that the well thought out advertising carried on by the Canadian Life Insurance Officers Association through the newspapers of Canada has been a large factor in bringing about this condition and attitude of public opinion. It is worthy of note also that this advertising campaign, as far as the weekly press is concerned, appears in a carefully selected group of which The Coleman Journal is one.

CANADA IS A VAST undeveloped country, destined to be the world's greatest, whose future lies in the hands of its aggressive and educated Youth.

CANADA'S INDUSTRIAL ECONOMY depends heavily on coal production and will become more dependent on coal as the nation's industrial power increases.

THE COAL INDUSTRY needs trained men, young men to replace elderly miners who plan retirement. It requires trained men to operate the coal mines as firebosses, pit bosses, superintendents general managers.

Education And The Future

THE THEORY THAT THE TRAINING of its youth is of the greatest importance to the future of any country has long been an accepted fact, and education holds an important place in the public interest almost everywhere. This is true in Canada, where in most communities much attention is directed to the operation of the schools. Under the chairmanship of Dr. Sidney Smith, president of the University of Toronto, and an outstanding educationalist, the Canadian Youth Commission has been carrying on studies in connection with education in this country, and many interesting and challenging facts have been brought forth in reports made on the results of these studies.

Attract Ablest To Profession

The Commission, which "probed the mind of Canadian youth in regard to education," has found that there is agreement among Canadian young people that the best conditions which we now have for education in the most favored communities should be extended to all Canadian children everywhere; that teaching must be made so attractive that the ablest of our youth will be attracted to it as a profession; and that more attention should be paid to the health of children in the schools. It also recommends that curricula should be developed to meet the needs of the children to the fullest extent, with the object of fitting each child to make its maximum contribution to society.

The Need For New Schools

The need for new schools has also been discussed and it was agreed that better school buildings should be provided and that the school should play a more important part in the life of the community. The necessity of Federal financial aid for education if improvement along the lines of those suggested are to be made, was stressed in the findings of the Commission. Other educational bodies have made similar recommendations from time to time regarding the need for improving conditions in Canadian schools. It is apparent that lack of funds is responsible for many of the shortcomings in our present system, and that large sums of public money will have to be earmarked for education before there can be any great improvement. The Canadian Youth Commission and other educational bodies who offer constructive criticism on the subject are to be commended for their efforts.

British Farmers Grow More Grain

LONDON.—British farmers have hit the first target in their five-year plan to guarantee more home-grown wheat and potatoes in 1948. The ministry of agriculture says reports from England and Wales show that 2,340,250 acres of wheat have been sown, an increase of 265,000 over last year. More than 73,000 additional acres have been found for potatoes, bringing the total to 1,914,840.

SAFETY PLAN FOR PLANES

An engineer has claimed there is increased safety in flying with seats placed to face the rear of the plane. This, he said, gives better protection in case of a forced landing.

There are 45 different kinds of steel used in the manufacture of one medium-priced brand of motorcar.

Alberta Alters Hunting Seasons

EDMONTON.—Caribou hunting is prohibited in Alberta this year, according to big game hunting regulations for 1948. Open seasons on deer, moose, elk, mountain sheep and mountain goats were cut from last year's. Bag limits set for big game are one male mountain sheep; one female or male mountain goat; a male deer, elk or moose; one grizzly bear; one black, brown or cinnamon bear. Female bears with cubs are protected. The bear seasons are Sept. 1 to Dec. 11 and April 1 to June 4. Deer, moose and elk may be hunted from Nov. 1 to Nov. 30. Mountain sheep and goats are open October only.

Plan Film Workshop For Central Manitoba

WINKLER, Man.—The organization of a film workshop in south central Manitoba for late summer was the theme of an address by D. E. Woodsworth, regional director for the National Film board for Western Ontario and Manitoba, to the delegates attending the film council conference in the Green Lantern here. Technical training will be provided in the use of the latest equipment including sound projectors, film strip projectors, and wire recorders. The conference decided to retain Alton as the main film repository for this area, which includes Love Farm, Roland, Manitou and Winkler.

SOUVENIR OF PARIS VISIT—Princess Elizabeth and her consort, the Duke of Edinburgh, are shown as they posed for their portrait at the British Embassy in Paris on the occasion of their state visit to the French capital. Both are wearing decorations they received from President Auriol of France. The princess wears the Grand Cordón of Legion of Honor and the duke the Croix de Guerre. The trip to Paris marked the first time that Britain's future queen set her foot on any soil but that of the empire.

One-Ounce Letters Go By Air Mail

OTTAWA.—Beginning July 1, ordinary one-ounce letters will be carried by air mail to the major centres of Canada under a new postal scheme, announced in the Commons by Postmaster-General Bertrand.

Canada thus becomes the first country to introduce what is known as "all-up" mail service on a national basis. The new service, which will operate at first on the Trans-Canada Air Lines main network and later may be extended to secondary feeder lines, means that letters weighing up to an ounce will receive air mail treatment whether or not they carry air mail postage.

They will thus go by air even with the ordinary four-cent postage now confined to surface mail. The seven-cent air mail stamp will continue to be used on letters weighing more than an ounce.

Mr. Bertrand said the new routine, to be used wherever the mails can be speeded up, will be on an "experimental basis" until it is proved financially sound.

The ordinary postal rate for out-of-town mail is four cents for the first ounce and two cents for each additional ounce or fraction. The air mail rate is seven cents for the first ounce and five cents for each additional ounce or fraction. Thus, a two-ounce letter still will need 12 cents postage if it is to be sent by air and six cents for normal surface delivery.

Mr. Bertrand announced also that the department plans to make "various improvements and extensions" of an unclassified nature in the rural mail service.

"And is it?"

"Of course," replied Henpeck, "er—even if I have to do it myself."

CALLS FIREMEN WITH POSTCARD

BLACKPOOL, England.—A man sent the Blackpool fire brigade a postcard saying: "Will you come to my house? I can smell burning."

The firemen got it 24 hours later.

They thought it was a joke, went any way, and found timber smouldering under the man's hearth. They extinguished the fire.

Canada Improving Trade Position

OTTAWA.—Canada continues to make progress in correcting her unfavorable trade position with the United States and consequently in her American dollar situation.

However, she still buys much more from that country than she sells there, and continues to have a dollar problem which she must try to make up by getting payment in dollars for what she sells to other countries.

Assistance to European countries through the European recovery program helps in this, though the course of American policy is not clear in all respects. Also, Canada is suffering somewhat in her trade with dollar-short countries which do not get E.R.P. aid and which have put restrictions on what they will buy from dollar areas.

Total Canadian sales to the United States in the first four months of this year were $421,533,000 compared with $320,237,000 in the similar period of 1947, an advance of more than 31 per cent. For the first three months of the year the unfavorable trade balance with the United States was $107,900,000 compared with $203,200,000 in the same period of 1947.

Bringing American Dollars to Canada

In 1947 Canada's trade with the United States exceeded two and three quarter billion dollars. It is the heaviest two-way trade in the world. Canada's need for American dollars to sustain this trade is vital.

Who brings American dollars to Canada?

People who make and export goods; and people who cater for tourists.

And, of course, your bank helps . . . by financing business and industry to expand production for export. This is one of the many ways in which Canada's system of competitive banking serves the Canadian people.
